Electronic Data Interchange

What is Electronic Data Interchange (EDI)?

EDI is the computer to computer exchange of information between you and the Employment Development Department (EDD). You can now file your DE 6 Quarterly Wage and Withholding Report electronically using EDI.

What are the requirements?

There are three requirements:

- Use a computer and modem,
- Send your data in the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) X12 standard format; and,
- Obtain the services of a Value Added Network (VAN).

What is a Value Added Network (VAN)?

A VAN is a third party service provider for EDI communication services. A VAN is like a delivery vehicle; it delivers your data to an electronic mailbox and EDD picks it up.

A VAN provides a secure environment where your tax data is stored and retrieved daily by EDD.

What are the benefits of using EDI?

EDI has many benefits:

- Saves you time and money by filing your report electronically.
- Quickly updates your account.
- Provides a rapid and secure data transmission without manual intervention.
- Increases the accuracy of your filing.
- Automatically provide acknowledgement of receipt .
- Provides a single point-of-contact for electronic filing (your very own EDI representative).

How do I obtain software?

You have four options:

- Develop your own programming to convert your data to the ANSI X12 standard EDI format.
- Ask your payroll software vendor if they offer an EDI conversion product.
- Ask your payroll software vendor to recommend a product that is compatible with your existing payroll software.
- Obtain software from a VAN service provider.
